2027-2028 Non-Custodial Parent Statement Waiver Request

Your non-custodial parent is required to complete the application. We recognize that in some cases, it may be impossible to obtain non-custodial information. If you have no contact with your non-custodial parent, you may request to waive this requirement. See the steps below for next steps.

Submission of this request does not guarantee that a waiver will be approved. WashU may request additional information to review your waiver request. Please check the status of your request via our financial aid portal

Examples of situations where a waiver may be granted:

- Documented abuse situations involving you and your non-custodial parent
- Legal orders that limit the non-custodial parent's contact with you
- No contact or support ever received from the non-custodial parent

Examples of documents to support waiver requests:

- Court documents or legal orders, as available
- Third-party documentation- a written statement or letter from a counselor, social worker, teacher, or clergy who has first-hand knowledge about and can certify your situation. Statements from family members or attorneys are not accepted.
